The Vision

Dr. Bhupen Hazarika's well-known song on Gauhati University

A university
  Of the People
  For the People
  By the People

The establishment of Gauhati University was the culmination of a prolonged movement by the people of Assam for a University of their own since the early years of the twentieth century.

The demand for a University was raised in many forums, and over several decades. In 1917, presiding over the annual session of the Assam Association at Sibsagar, Satyanath Bora strongly advocated the case for a separate University in Assam. He pointed out that the Calcutta University could hardly reflect the ethos and aspiration of the people of Assam. In fact, the Sadler Commission, while visiting Cotton College in 1917, remarked that Assam could not be expected to mould its national character and shape its courses and curriculum of study so long as it remained under the academic control of Calcutta University. The matter was discussed in the Legislative Council for the first time in April 1917. A resolution that Assam should have a separate University was moved by Daiba Chandra Talukdar in the annual conference of the Guwahati Ekata Sabha, held at the Curzon Hall in 1928 under the presidentship of Karmabir Nabin Chandra Bordoloi.

Assamese Students' Welfare League, based in Calcutta, became very active during this time and the demand for the University in Assam gathered momentum. Assamese was then recognized only as a subsidiary subject in Calcutta University and the League was successful in making it one of the principal languages. In 1931, the MA classes in English in Cotton College were abolished and there was also a move to shift the Earle Law College to outside Assam. These moves irked the people of Assam and the demand for a separate University grew stronger.

A resolution was tabled for an Assam University in Assam Legislative Council on 17th March, 1935, but the Government was not in favour of this because of financial constraints. A widely represented meeting, organized by the Assam Association and the Sangrakshini Sabha, was held at the Curzon Hall, Guwahati on 30th April, 1935 with Lokapriya Gopinath Bordoloi on the chair. The meeting called for immediate establishment of a University in Assam and decided to form a University Committee with the coordinated efforts of the Assam Association, the Assamese Students' Welfare League and the University Action Committee of Nagaon, a movement was launched all over the state for establishment of a separate University for Assam. University Day was observed throughout the state on 22nd May, 1935 with processions and public meetings. The Government of Assam owing to increasing public pressure prepared two schemes, only by J.R. Cunningham, retired Director of Public Instruction, Assam and the other by Dr. S.K. Bhuyan. Neither of the schemes was found acceptable. However, Robertson, who was the principal of Murarichand College and who also served Assam as Director of the Education Department wrote in the annual report, It is said, "Assam cannot afford to have University of its own, it cannot afford not to have one".

The initiatives for setting up a University were renewed after the Second World War. In December, 1944 the Gauhati University Trust Board was formed with Lokapriya Bordoloi as its President. Bordoloi, ably assisted by Madhab Chandra Bezbaruah, Fakhruddin Ali Ahmed, Bhubaneswar Barua, Maheswar Neog and others, toured the entire Assam Valley and secured a promise of more than 16 lakhs of rupees of donation. Of this, more than 5 lakhs were collected within a few months. Meanwhile, Bordoloi took over as the first Prime Minister of Assam in independent India. The formation of a popular Government under the leadership of Bordoloi made the task easier and as the State's Education Minister, Bordoloi moved the Gauhati University Bill. The Bill was accepted in Assam Assembly on 15 October, 1947. The jurisdiction of Calcutta University and Decca Board of Intermediate and Secondary Education over Assam and the N.E. Region ceased with effect from 26th January, 1948. On this date, Prime Minister Bordoloi formally inaugurated the Gauhati University. The eminent scholar and educationist Krishna Kanta Handiqui joined the University as its first Vice-Chancellor and Phanidhar Dutta, a professor of Mathematics of Cotton College was appointed its first Registrar.

The University started functioning from a building left behind by the military in the Cotton College campus. From 1948, the University had 18 affiliated colleges besides two professional colleges, the Assam Medical College at Dibrugarh and the Assam Agricultural College at Jorhat till 1955. That year, the University was shifted to its present campus at Jalukbari.

Gauhati University could be established due to the aspiration of the people of Assam and their help and cooperation under the relentless and untiring efforts of a band of dedicated workers led by Gopinath Bordoloi, Madhab Chandra Bezbaruah, Sarat Chandra Goswami, Fakhruddin Ali Ahmed, Bhubaneswar Baruah and many others.

A UNIQUE HERITAGE

The unprecedented and spontaneous financial support of the public and their untiring involvement in the thirty-one-year struggle has thus led to the establishment of Gauhati University.

During the crucial initial years, this institution received the guidance of Krishna Kanta Handiqui, a pioneering Indologist and philanthropist as its Vice Chancellor.

V. Venkata Rao, Professor Emeritus, donated his life savings of about 15 lakhs of rupees for the promotion of higher education in the country through several Universities.

A galaxy of eminent scholars and administrators, such as Bani Kanta Kakati, Birinchi Kumar Baruah, Maheswar Neog, Satyendra Nath Sarma, Paban Chandra Mahanta, Hiten Barua, Rohini Kanta Barua and many others will always be remembered for their notable contributions to the academic world and to the development of the University.

Over the years and across the decades since its existence, Gauhati University has emerged as a symbol of integration: it has offered opportunities of Higher Study to students from the ethnically and culturally diverse mosaic of communities of the North East.

The University was awarded a four-star status by the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC).

These materials are designed to be an appropriate substitute of the regular university classes, and the 'teacher in print' will help the students to learn their course themselves and subsequently prepare themselves for the term-end examination. The students should make the best use of the SLM by understanding the way it has been designed and developed. The objectives will first introduce the students with the goals which the students will reach after reading the unit. Then the various sections and subsections of the unit will follow. After each section there will be SAQs (Self Asking Questions) through which the students can check their progress in terms of understanding the course content. In between, there will be some boxes in which attempts will be made to impart the 'Extra' information which the students need to meet with the exam-oriented questions. Towards the end, there will be a list of references and suggested readings. Although the study materials are meant to be self-contained and self sufficient, students can also consult the books and references enlisted at the end of the unit for having a yet better grasp of the course content.

Study Materials are supplied to the students immediately after the admission either in person or by post. Students can also get the Study Materials through the GU IDOL Study Centers in which he/ she have taken admission. Limited study materials can also be downloaded from the GU IDOL e-learning portal: www.bodhidroom.guidol.in
